

ECE 190 Homework Policies

You can get a homework assignment re-graded if:

- We forgot to grade a question
- It looks like the graders missed a diagram, table, etc. that helped to explain your answer
- You think the graders did not understand or misinterpreted your explanation (usually this is on X-problems where you had to write a long paragraph)
- We took off some points from your perfectly correct answer for no apparent reason

How to get an assignment re-graded:

- First, check the solutions posted online. If your answer doesn't agree with the answer key, generally you won't get more points. Ask a TA how to do the problem if you still don't understand why your answer is wrong.
- If your answer is mostly/partially/completely right, write one or two sentences on a SEPARATE piece of paper explaining which question(s) deserves more points and why. (The only exception is if the graders mis-totaled your paper or just typed the wrong number into compass. Then just write "miss-add" at the top of the assignment)
- Staple your explanation to the original homework and hand the whole thing to your discussion TA no more than 1 week after it was handed back to you

Note: Just because you ask for a re-grade does not guarantee you will get more points. Also, any additional writing (extra explanations, the correct answers, editing) on your actual assignment means we WILL NOT re-grade it.

And, just a few general notes on homework:

- Staple it. (Stapler located in 2nd floor EWS lab or 1st floor coffee room, so no excuses/exceptions)
- Put the questions in order. (ie, book problem 1, book problem 2, X1, X2)
- Write "ECE 190 Homework 1" (or 3, or 5 . . .) and the TA discussion section where you want to get your assignment back on the first page by your name
